VANPORT TENANTS HOLD MASS MEETING

By Bertha K. Skolnick

Two thousand tenants of Vanport packed Community Building #1 Tuesday evening, July 8, to hear about the Cain Bill Which would destroy their community and deprive them of their homes.

Mr. Harry D. Freemen, Executive Secretery of the Housing Authority of Portland, said that that body was interested in keeping Portland's present population and favored the development of adequate housing as well as industrial growth providing more permanent payrolls. He stated that the Cain Bill was so bad that a detailed analyels of its provisions was unnecessary.

Ers. Frences Stokes, vice-chairman of Portland Housing and Planning Association, explained that the 13,000 war housing units in this are are sub-stendard and as such would not be worth any investment on the part of prospective purchasers. She emphasized the importance of construction of permanent low-cost housing so that the thousands of families in temporary wer housing would have a place to live in the near future.

Other guest speakers were Frank Patterson, who, speaking for the Progressive Citizens of America, insisted that all Vanporters register and vote in every election so that we may have a voice in what our government is doing. He said that only 43% of the Oregon voters were heard from in the 146 elections. Mark Smith, President of the Vancouver National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said, "we are all in the same boat, colored and white. We fought a war together. There will be no conscription now. We must all volunteer to fight this war to save our homes, and fight together."

pr. Stephen Epler, President of Vanport College, pointed out that the Cain Bill would not only deprive us of our homes but would also put the college out of business at a time when such facilities are desperately needed. Also present were Mr.
Willer, principal of the Roosevelt School was rewarded with a telegram July 9 stating:

BY SENATOR CAIN AND REPRESENTATIVE WOLCOT
S1459 AND HR 3492. I AM IN AGREEMENT WITH YOUR VIEWPOINT AND I AM DOING EVERYTHING IN MY POWER TO PREVENT ENACTMENT OF THIS LEGISLATION WHICH CLEARLY HAS BEEN DRAFTED WITHOUT ADEQUATE KNOWLEDGE OF ITS INJURIOUS RESULTS. "

THE INQUIRING REPORTER By George Dieber

DISCS! What are these objects that seem to be puzzling so many people??

The following are some of the opinions of Vanporters:

Mrs. Mildred Miller of 3660 Broadacres says that the only time that she considered the reports seriously were those made by Capt. Smith and two others of the United Airlines Company at which time she believed that it might he a Navy experiment. However when hearing many other reports she believes that in most instances it is purely imagination.

and Mr. Jensen, principal of the Marchall School. Phil Dreyer, N. W. delegate to the National Planning Committee of the American Veterans' Committee, pledged full support of his organization in the fight to defeat the Cain Bill and to secure passage of decent housing legislation such as the Wagner-Ellender-Taft Bill.

Mr. J. P. Stevens, international official of the Fire Fighters Union (AFL) in a hard-hitting speech criticized the people for not having shown enough interest in voting. He stated that "the burden of fighting such legislation as the Taft-Hartley "slave labor law" and the Cain Bill now falls upon us because by staying away from the polls we permitted the election of irresponsible representatives who are working for special interests instead of the people. Mr. Edwin C. Berry, Executive Secretary of the Urban League of Portland, pledged the support of his organization in the fight to keep a roof over Vanporters' heads. "If you don't write you're wrong"...he said that we must all write to Senators Wayne Morse and Guy Cordon condeming the Cain and Wolcott Bills and assuring them of our support in their stand against these measures.

This meeting, which was something of a record in Oregon history, was organized by the Vanport Tenants League and chaired by Mr. Roger Randall, its president. Mr. Jesse Ekolnick, executive board member of the league, introduced a resolution condemning the Cain Bill and other similar legislation and supporting the Wagner-Taft-Ellender Bill. It was passed unanimously. Fifteen hundred post cards were passed out at the meeting so that the people could write to their senators then and there. A successful appeal was made for funds to defray the costs of the meeting and to carry on the fight to defeat the Cain Bill. Immediately after the meeting, telegrams addressed to Senators Morse, Cordon and Tobey as well as Mr. Dahlke, President of the H.A.P., were sent to Washington, D. C.

MOVIE REVIEWS

By Baker and Merrill

Bob, Son of Battle, which has caused so much excitement in Portland in the past few weeks has so many wonderful points to it that it would be next to impossible to print them in our alloted space. Lon Mc-Callister, who portrays "Davie McAdam" is at his best, and Peggy Ann Garner as his co-star are a fine match. Much is to be said for Edmond Gwenn, that fine character actor and his shepherd dog. "Bob" is the dog who descends from a long line of champions and has been been once defeated in the sheep-dog championships. The big question is: "Will Bob, dog of Thomas Moore, or Red Wool, who is suspected of being a sheep killer, win the Boardershire Champion cup? " We aren't telling!

One of the funniest movies in town is "The Egg and I." As you know, this movie is based on Betty MacDonald's humorous novel of the same title. Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray make the characters "Betty" and "Bob" very realistic. The largest set on Paramount lot was used for farm scenes. You'll find some old friends in the picture that you met if you read the book such as Pa and Ma Kettle and the crazy woman, and the two Indians who gave Betty a real scare. The show is pretty good, especially if you didn't read the book.

PERSONALS

Ruth Langton, who works in the Vanport Nursery, left for the beach last Saturday. She will stay there a week during which time she plans to "just sit in the sun all day".

INTRODUCING

Benjamin Noble

Our own Mr. Benjamin F. Noble has had an interesting life, even though he was reluctant to tell us about it.

According to the family Bible, he was born some 37 years ago in the Oklahoma territory. In most ways, he followed a perfectly normal childhood. Normal, at least in two respects -- going to school, and receiving a normal number of chastise-ments, which, according to him, should have been administered more often.

After spending some 16 years learning the three "R's", his parents decided he should begin the inevitable duty of working behind the plow. This occupation, not being the type suited for the development of an "artistic" nature, he took unauthorized leave of the farm and became a "gentleman of the road, " which soon led to his chasing cowtails as a cowboy.

When the recent war broke out, Uncle Sam decided his presence was needed in the services of our country, and he then became a Technical Sergeant in the army. Since his discharge in January of 1946, he has been attempting to curb his naturally roving nature by going to school to study Business Management and Accounting.

On the VOICE, Mr. Noble is practically indispensable, serving as Business Manager, Reporter, Circulation, and jack of all trad s. "

AN INTERVIEW WITH THE STARS

By Baker and Merrill

It was about 11:55 a.m. and our hearts were in our throats. We had just been introduced to one of 20th Century Fox's important heads. There we were, gazing into the storm-clouded by. The 44-passenger plane swooped down over the field and made its landing at the far end. Giggling and excited bobby-soxers greeted it as it taxied up to the gate. Clutching autograph ied up to the gate. Clutching autograph books, they watched the passengers as they filed off the plane. Suddenly, someone saw Lon McCallister in the window of the airplane. This started a round of screaming and near swooning.

"Here they come!" went up the shout. Yes, indeed, there they came! Randy Stuart, pretty blonde singer; Coleen Townsend, dark-haired beauty; tall, good-looking Glenn Langan of "Margie" fame; equally handsome blond Kurt Kreuger, heart throb of many movie goers; and last but not least, Lon McCallister, the darling of the teen-age girls. Celebrities were to appear at the Northwest premiere of "Bob, Son of Battle."

In half an hour, it was all over for the fans except those who were yet to see the stars on the stage of the Orpheum Theater later in the aftermoon.

ARMY INTELLIGENCE OPENINGS IN FAR EAST

"Enlistments and reenlistments in the Regular Army for direct assignment to Military Intelligence Service in the Far East is now authorized to qualified persons who are able to read, write and speak the Korean or Russian languages fluently, " M/Sgt. Jack Langworthy, Vanport recruiter announced recently.

In addition to meeting the above qualifications, applicants must have a recorded score of 110 or higher on their classification test, or a minimum of 28 on their Ragor R-4 test. Enlistments must be for a term of three years, also, Sgt. Langworthy explained.

Applicants with prior service who are qualified Korean or Russian linguists, will be enlisted as Technicians Fifth Grade or a grade authorized by the War Department, whichever is higher. Successful completion of screening tests at the Military Intelligence Service Language School, and proof of their linguistic abilities will entitle applicants for promotion to Staff Sergeant or Sergeant.

Basic training for new enlistees will be accomplished at Fort Ord, California, and personnel will then be transferred to the Language School at Presidio of Monterey California. Individuals with previous service will report directly to the school, Sgt. Langworthy said.

Complete information on the requirements for enlistment as a Korean or Russian Linguist in the Military Intelligence Service may be obtained at the nearest Army Recruiting Station, Vanport Administration Bldg., corner of Victory at Force.

Under recent laws enacted by Congress and directives from the War Dept., effective July 1, 1947, enlistments in the new Regular Army may be accepted for periods of 2, 3, and 4 and 5 years. The 2-year enlistments, however, are reserved for the Army Ground forces, for original enlistments only. Former members of the Regular Army may not enlist for the two-year period. Enlistments for the Army Air Force are for periods of 3, 4 and 5 years.

One of our other Broadacres tenants Mr. Hall, says in his opinion the whole thing is a "bit of baloney".

A.E. Douglas, swimming instructor at Community Building #1 says he thinks there are three things it could be. 1) The United State Government is experimenting 2) Foreign governments experimenting, 3) Radio propelled objects.

(Your reporter's opinion--Superman's

"Mr. Anderson is expecting us" we announced later. "We're a bit early for the interview." We followed him backstage and soon were waiting behind the memmoth screen, on the stage of the Orpheum. As the back door opened, admitting the stars, we began to get jittery again. Our questions stuck in our throats. Just as suddenly as our fright had come, it subsided and we were able to speak.

The first of our interviews was with David Street, singing star of "Meet Me At Parky's" who is returning to Hollywood to make "Wabash Avenue". He thinks the VOICE is a wonderful idea and we didn't argue with him.

Glenn Langan was next. You will remember him as the hero of such pictures as "Margie", "The Homestretch" and "Shock." Glenn was in Portland in 1936 and since then has had business in the radio world. You have probably heard him on the air as Barton Drake in his own "Mystery is My Hobby". The six-foot-four actor said he will return to the City of Roses in four or five months.

Our next talk was with Kurt Krueger. This good-looking player was born in St. Moritz, Switzerland. Kurt has been at 20th Century Studios for about two years and before then he was a free-lance actor. He has been to Portland before and went skiing at Mt. Hood. Incidentally, he said that all those stories about his having been a skiing instructor at Sun Valley are definitely false. Kurt has two large German Shepherd dogs, "Roulfe" and "Vance." He said that his favorite picture is "Mademoiselle Fifi", a de Maupassant story.

And now, girls, hold on to your hats, cause next comes Lon McCallister. At the age of 23, he has made about 55 motion pictures. Lon has been in Uncle Sam's Army about two years and has still managed to be a top favorite among movie goers. After a while, we got around to asking him who his favorite leading lady was. He thought a little while; we offered suggestions such as Jeanne Crain, Peggy Ann Garner, and June Haver. Lon smiled broadly and answered, "Maybe you'd better say," Catherine Cornell."

The last act on stage was a sextette featuring all of the stars. It was a cowboy affair, and all six wore a huge red or yellow sombrero. During the act, someone started laughing and the song ended in a fit of hilarity for both the performers and the audience. Afterwards, we asked Glenn Langan if it had been rehearsed. He replied, "Are you kidding?"

Then the guests of the City of Roses left the theater and on to a party for them at the Benson. Suddenly the backstage was crowded and we managed to find out that these were autograph seekers. We left, happy with our interview with the stars.

VANPORT RED CROSS LOCATED ON FORCE

The Red Cross has a headquarters office located at Apt. 7096, 10729 Force, with three staff members on duty for the convenience of veterans and servicemen and families. Red Cross staff members are Mrs. Medora Nichols, Mrs. Margaret Robertson and Rita Thommasson, of the home service department.

Home service is the department particularly organized for veterans and service personnel, but the Vanport Red Cross can give information on other services available locally. For instance, there have been nutrition, first aid and home nursing classes taught at Vanport. And groups wishing other classes are asked to make the request.

Through the water safety department, swimming is open throughout the summer for boys and girls and adults at Shattuck school located at 1914 S. W. Park Ave., near downtown Portland. The pool is open from 2:00 to 9:00 p.m. five days a week for swimming instruction free of charge. Each person must bring a towel and suit. Girls need to wear swimming caps. The Red Cross workers in the Vanport office can find out what times during the day are open for different age groups.

At this Red Cross is connected with 3,756 other county chapters and more than 6,000 branches, a network of communication is at hand throughout the United States. Among the recent needs Red Cross home service has helped with are assisting a mother to travel to the bedside of her son in a veterans' hospital; reuniting a family which has been separated by war; and obtain verification of a veteran's war-time injury to help support his claim for a pension.

VANPORT POPULATION DROPS

According to the June 15 "census", Vanport had a population of 22,121 persons, compared with a May 31 population of 22,546. 7,024 of this population are under 16, while 9.084 are between 20 and 35.

9,084 are between 20 and 35.

PERMANENTE PLAN GAINING POPULARITY

From 700 to 1000 new members are enrolling each month in the Portland-Vancouver area for medical and hospital care under the Permanente Foundation's hospital health plan, according to Dr. J. W. Neighbor, medical director. A number of Vanport residents have enrolled since the announcement last month that all Vanporters would be accepted for membership in the plan on the same terms as those ordinarily offered only to employee groups.

The steady growth in membership has resulted in the addition of several physicians to the staff in recent months. Besides the Permanente Hospital in Vanport, members may go to either the Permanente Hospital, Vancouver, or to the new clinic at N.E. 26th and Broadway, giving them a choice of three of the most modern medical facilities in the northwest.

Mr. John Ward, Permanente representative in the Vanport area, urges that all residents interested in becoming members come to the hospital or call him for details of the plan. "With the hospital so close, and with the opportunity of placing their medical needs on an economical budget basis, Vanport people have a chance to beat the present high cost of medical and hospital care."
