

By order of Her Majesty the QUEEN...

Dated this month of June, 1958

Hereby Appoints

Marshal of Festival Fun and Special Judge of ROSARIA'S PULCHRITUDE

Hearken and Hear Ye! Know all ye by this proclamation that ye venerable personage whose noble name is hereupon embossed is now by Royal Decree appointed to this high office and commanded in the merrie month of June to abandon the slings and arrows of a weary life and hie away to carefree Portland Towne; there to meet in merrie camaraderie with the fairest and the finest in the land. Ye stalwart Marshal is further commanded to arrive bedecked with Rose Petals perfumed with Attar of Roses; to pass, with worldly wisdom and pulchritudinous perspicacity, impartial judgment upon the ravishing, Rosy-cheeked damsels desiring the favor of the Court, to break the fetters of Doldrum, and marshal the forces of Merriment to the everlasting glory of Portland Towne and ye Fiftieth Festival of Roses.

Forsooth, to wit, this proclamation is duly signed and sealed:
